ABOUT ME

I am a seasoned iOS Engineer with around 15 years of hands-on experience in designing, developing, and maintaining innovative mobile applications for the iOS platform. Throughout my career, I have demonstrated a deep understanding of the iOS ecosystem and a passion for creating high-quality, user-centric applications. I've worked across B2C products at scale, owning features end-to-end from discovery to release, collaborating closely with cross-functional partners (including UX and product), and maintaining high engineering standards through clean architecture, automation, and thoughtful code quality practices. I'm also comfortable operating in production environments, including on-call responsibilities and incident mitigation.

SKILLS

- Programming Languages: Objective-C, Swift
